Module 6: Framing

Module Snapshot

Module	Home Construction Stage	Six Sigma Phase	Biblical Principle	Practical Application
6	Framing	Analyze	Seedtime & Harvest	Giving Plan

Welcome to Module 6

Congratulations on completing the foundation stage of your financial house.

A solid foundation provides stability, but a foundation alone cannot fulfill its purpose. Now it's time to begin building upward.

In construction, framing is one of the most exciting phases of the project. Walls begin to rise. Rooms become visible. Hallways take shape. For the first time, what once existed only as lines on a blueprint begins to resemble a real home.

The same thing happens in your financial life.

The disciplines you've been developing now begin working together to create visible progress. Stewardship becomes more than a collection of financial habits—it becomes the framework that supports long-term stability, generosity, and growth.

This module introduces one of the most powerful principles found throughout Scripture:

Seedtime and Harvest.

God designed His Kingdom around the principle that every harvest begins with a seed. Whether the seed is time, money, faith, generosity, or obedience, healthy growth follows God's established order rather than human shortcuts. You'll also discover the three biblical financial seeds that strengthen every financial house:

- The Tithe honors God's ownership.
- The Offering advances God's Kingdom.
- Alms reveal God's compassion.

Finally, you'll learn how giving, saving, investing, and protecting your financial resources work together to create a structure capable of supporting lasting increase.

By the end of this module, you will have a practical framework for managing God's resources with wisdom while trusting Him for the harvest.

As every builder learns...Strong houses don't simply happen. They are built one beam at a time. This module will help you install those beams.

Module Learning Objectives

By the completion of Module 6 you will be able to:

- Explain the biblical law of Seedtime and Harvest.
- Describe the three financial seeds found in Scripture.
- Create a personal Giving Plan consisting of tithes, offerings, and alms.
- Implement a savings strategy that creates financial margin.
- Understand how investing contributes to long-term financial growth.
- Recognize and avoid habits that interfere with financial progress.
- Develop a stewardship mindset that reflects God's ownership over every resource.

Lesson 1
The House Begin to Rise

Lesson Objectives

By the end of this lesson, you will understand why structure always precedes lasting growth. You'll discover how the framing stage of construction illustrates God's pattern for developing stability before expansion, and why consistent stewardship creates the framework for long-term financial success.

📐 Builder's Blueprint

Once a foundation has cured, the most exciting stage of construction begins.

The framing crew arrives. Walls are raised. Rooms become visible. Hallways take shape.

For the first time, what existed only as lines on a blueprint begins to resemble a real home.

Although the house is far from finished, something important has happened—the structure is now capable of supporting everything that will come later. Our financial lives develop in much the same way.

After establishing biblical principles of stewardship, discipline, and financial responsibility, we begin building systems that create lasting stability. Progress becomes visible, confidence grows, and what once seemed impossible begins to feel attainable.

God rarely builds outward before He builds inward. He develops character before increase.

© 2026 eLearn Life Skills, L.L.C. All Rights Reserved.

He establishes structure before expansion. That pattern protects us from becoming overwhelmed by blessings we are not yet prepared to manage.

📐 Builder's Blueprint

Every Builder Should Remember:

✓ Foundations provide stability.

✓ Framing creates structure.

✓ Structure supports future growth.

✓ Healthy financial systems reduce confusion.

✓ Consistent stewardship prepares us for greater responsibility.

📖 Key Scripture

"Therefore whoever hears these sayings of Mine, and does them, I will liken him to a wise man who built his house on the rock."

Matthew 7:24 (NKJV)

A strong house is built intentionally.

Likewise, a strong financial life is built by consistently applying God's wisdom—not merely hearing it.

🔑 Key Takeaways

- God builds structure before expansion.
- Financial growth begins with consistent stewardship.
- Healthy systems replace financial confusion.
- Stability comes from faithful daily habits.
- A well-framed financial house is prepared to support future opportunities.

Which financial habit has produced the greatest positive change?

In what area of your financial life do you still need stronger framing?

🔨 Builder's Toolbox

The Structure Test

Evaluate the strength of your current financial framework by answering each question honestly.

Question	Yes	No
Do I consistently follow a written spending plan?	☐	☐
Have I established regular giving habits?	☐	☐
Am I intentionally building savings?	☐	☐
Do I make financial decisions with long-term goals in mind?	☐	☐
Have I replaced confusion with a clear financial system?	☐	☐

Builder's Insight

Strong financial houses are not built through occasional good decisions.

They are built through consistent daily habits.

🛠️ Build Assignment

This week, identify one financial habit that needs strengthening.

Create one simple system that will help make that habit automatic.

Examples include:

- Scheduling your giving before payday.
- Automating your savings.
- Reviewing your budget every Friday.
- Tracking discretionary spending.
- Setting aside time for financial prayer and planning.

Remember:

Healthy systems produce consistent results.

Builder's Prayer

Heavenly Father,

Thank You for the work You have already begun in my life.

Help me resist the temptation to seek quick results without first building the structure needed to sustain them.

Teach me to value faithfulness over speed, consistency over shortcuts, and wisdom over impulse.

Strengthen the framework of my financial life so that I can faithfully manage every blessing You entrust to me.

May my life become a testimony that lasting increase is built upon obedient stewardship.

In Jesus' name,

Amen.

Lesson 2
Understanding Seedtime and Harvest

Lesson Objective

By the end of this lesson, you will understand that Seedtime and Harvest is one of God's foundational principles for growth. You'll discover why lasting increase follows faithful stewardship, patient obedience, and consistent planting rather than shortcuts or instant gratification.

📐 Builder's Blueprint

Every builder understands that construction follows a sequence.

The foundation must be poured before the walls are framed.

The framing must be completed before the roof is installed.

Skipping steps only weakens the structure.

God has established a similar order for growth throughout His creation.

Jesus repeatedly taught this principle through parables about seeds. Again and again, He illustrated that the Kingdom of God operates through planting, growth, patience, and multiplication. Every harvest begins with a seed, and every season of increase begins with faithful stewardship.

© 2026 eLearn Life Skills, L.L.C. All Rights Reserved.

Many people desire the harvest without embracing the process.

They want:

- Increase without discipline.
- Provision without stewardship.
- Success without preparation.
- Results without patience.

God's pattern is different.

Before there is a harvest, there must first be a seed.

Before there is multiplication, something must be willingly planted.

This principle extends beyond finances. It applies to our relationships, careers, ministries, personal growth, and spiritual development. Healthy systems consistently produce healthy outcomes over time.

📖 Scripture Foundation

"The kingdom of God is as if a man should scatter seed on the ground, and should sleep by night and rise by day, and the seed should sprout and grow, he himself does not know how."

Mark 4:26–27 (NKJV)

Jesus reminds us that growth is often invisible before it becomes visible.

Just because we cannot immediately see progress does not mean God is not at work.

Faithful planting always precedes a fruitful harvest.

🔑 Key Takeaways

- Every harvest begins with a seed.
- Seedtime and Harvest is a foundational principle of God's Kingdom.
- Lasting financial growth follows faithful stewardship, not shortcuts.
- Patience is an essential part of every season of increase.
- God is responsible for the harvest; our responsibility is to faithfully plant and steward the seed He has entrusted to us.

- ☐ I trust God's timing even when I cannot immediately see progress.
- ☐ I consistently plant good financial seeds through wise stewardship.
- ☐ I believe faithful management today prepares tomorrow's harvest.

Builder's Principle

Healthy harvests are the natural result of healthy systems faithfully maintained over time.

Give me patience during seasons when I cannot yet see the harvest.

Lesson 3
Three Seeds That Build God's House

Lesson Objectives

By the end of this lesson, you will understand the three biblical expressions of financial stewardship—the tithe, the offering, and almsgiving—and how each reflects a different aspect of God's character. You'll discover that biblical giving is not about obligation but about faithfully managing resources that already belong to God.

📐 Builder's Blueprint

Every framed house depends upon multiple structural beams. Each beam serves a different purpose. Some support the roof. Others strengthen the walls. Still others distribute weight throughout the structure.

Remove one critical beam, and the entire structure becomes weaker. God designed our financial lives in much the same way.

© 2026 eLearn Life Skills, L.L.C. All Rights Reserved.

Biblical stewardship is not built upon a single act of generosity. It is built upon three distinct financial seeds that work together to reflect God's heart:

- The Tithe honors God's ownership.
- The Offering advances God's Kingdom.
- The Alms demonstrate God's compassion.

Together, these three expressions of stewardship create a balanced financial framework that strengthens both our faith and our finances. Before examining each seed, however, we must answer one foundational question:

Who owns the resources?

Until ownership is settled, stewardship will always feel like sacrifice rather than worship.

📖 Scripture Foundation

"The earth is the Lord's, and all its fullness, the world and those who dwell therein."

Psalm 24:1 (NKJV)

Biblical stewardship begins with recognizing that God owns everything.

We are not owners. We are stewards entrusted to faithfully manage His resources.

📝 Guided Notes

Section 1 — Ownership Before Stewardship

Before God teaches us how to give, He teaches us who owns the resources.

Imagine driving past a construction site.

- Stacks of lumber.
- Pallets of brick.
- Electrical supplies.
- Plumbing fixtures.

Who owns those materials?

- Not the carpenter.
- Not the electrician.
- Not even the general contractor.
- They belong to the owner of the house.

Likewise, every dollar we manage ultimately belongs to God. Stewardship begins when we stop asking, "How much of my money should I give?" and begin asking, "Lord, how would You have me manage what already belongs to You?"

© 2026 eLearn Life Skills, L.L.C. All Rights Reserved.

Reflection

How does viewing yourself as a steward rather than an owner change your perspective on money?

💰 Section 2 — The First Seed: The Tithe

The word tithe means one-tenth.

More importantly, Scripture presents the tithe as the first portion returned to God.

Notice the distinction. We do not give the tithe. We return it.

Like a contractor returning unused funds to the homeowner, the tithe acknowledges that everything already belongs to God. Returning the first portion honors Him as our Source and becomes an act of worship rather than obligation.

Builder's Principle

The first portion demonstrates trust because it honors God before every other financial priority.

🎁 Section 3 — The Second Seed: The Offering

Offerings differ from the tithe. While the tithe is returned to God as an acknowledgment of His ownership, offerings are voluntary gifts given beyond the tithe.

Offerings expand God's Kingdom.

- They support ministry.
- They strengthen churches.
- They fund missions.
- They help meet special needs.

Most importantly, offerings allow us to become partners in what God is accomplishing around the world.

Builder's Principle

Obedience establishes stewardship. Generosity expands it.

❤️ Section 4 — The Third Seed: Alms

Almsgiving reflects God's compassion.

Unlike offerings, which primarily support ministry, alms are directed toward people experiencing hardship.

© 2026 eLearn Life Skills, L.L.C. All Rights Reserved.

They demonstrate God's love in practical ways.

- Helping the hungry.
- Supporting a struggling family.
- Paying a utility bill.
- Providing groceries.
- Offering encouragement.

Biblical compassion is never merely feeling sorry for someone. It is love expressed through action.

Builder's Principle

Money is one of the tools God places in our hands to demonstrate His love.

🔑 Key Takeaways

- Biblical stewardship begins with recognizing God's ownership over everything.
- The tithe honors God as the Owner.
- Offerings voluntarily advance God's Kingdom.
- Alms express God's compassion toward those in need.
- Faithful stewardship is a lifestyle that reflects worship, generosity, and compassion working together.

I seek to honor God first through faithful stewardship.	☐
I intentionally support God's Kingdom beyond obligation.	☐
I look for opportunities to help people in need.	☐

Builder's Insight

Healthy stewardship is not measured by a single financial action.

It is reflected in a lifestyle that consistently honors God, advances His Kingdom, and blesses others.

🛠 Build Assignment

Remember:

Biblical stewardship is not measured by the size of the gift.

It is measured by the faithfulness of the steward.

Builder's Prayer

Heavenly Father,

Thank You for entrusting me with resources that ultimately belong to You.

Teach me to faithfully manage everything You have placed in my hands.

Help me honor You through the tithe, joyfully participate in Your Kingdom through offerings, and reflect Your compassion through acts of generosity toward those in need.

Transform my heart so that stewardship becomes more than an obligation—it becomes an expression of worship.

May my financial life reveal Your character and bring glory to Your name.

In Jesus' name,

Amen.

Lesson 4
Giving and Saving Create Financial Structure

Lesson Objectives

By the end of this lesson, you will understand why giving and saving are complementary acts of biblical stewardship. You'll learn how a planned Giving Plan, consistent saving, and intentional financial systems create stability, reduce stress, and prepare you for both opportunities and unexpected challenges.

📐 Builder's Blueprint

Every framed house includes more than walls. It also includes intentional spaces.

Rooms are designed with purpose. Closets provide storage. Hallways create movement.

Each part contributes to the strength and function of the finished home.

Our financial lives require the same kind of intentional design.

Many people believe that earning more money is the key to financial peace.

Scripture teaches something different.

Structure comes before increase.

Before God entrusts us with greater resources, He teaches us to faithfully manage what we already have.

Two of the most important framing components in God's financial design are giving and saving.

Giving keeps our hearts properly aligned with God. Saving prepares us for the future. Together they create the margin needed to live with wisdom instead of worry.

© 2026 eLearn Life Skills, L.L.C. All Rights Reserved.

📖 Scripture Foundation

"Honor the Lord with your possessions, and with the firstfruits of all your increase."

Proverbs 3:9 (NKJV)

Honoring God is not an afterthought. It is the first step in biblical financial order. When we place God first, our finances begin reflecting His priorities rather than our impulses.

🔑 Key Takeaways

- Structure always comes before increase.
- Giving aligns our hearts with God's priorities.
- A written Giving Plan includes the tithe, offerings, and alms.
- Saving creates financial margin and reduces dependence on debt.
- Consistent stewardship—honoring God first, saving intentionally, and living wisely—creates a financial house prepared for both opportunity and adversity.

Lesson 5
Investing and Multiplication

Lesson Objectives

By the end of this lesson, you will understand the biblical principle of multiplication through wise investing. You'll discover that investing is not about pursuing quick riches but about faithfully stewarding God's resources through patience, consistency, and long-term thinking.

📐 Builder's Blueprint

A wise builder never constructs a house simply for today.

Every beam, every wall, and every support is designed to serve the family for years—even generations—to come.

Likewise, faithful stewardship looks beyond today's needs and prepares for tomorrow's opportunities.

Saving protects what God has already entrusted to us. Investing helps those resources grow over time.

Many people believe investing is reserved for the wealthy. Scripture presents a different perspective.

Investing begins with stewardship—not wealth. It begins with faithfully managing what we already have.

God is less concerned with the size of our resources than with our willingness to manage them wisely.

© 2026 eLearn Life Skills, L.L.C. All Rights Reserved.

Just as framing prepares a house for future expansion, investing prepares our financial lives for future opportunities.

📖 Scripture Foundation

"His lord said to him, 'Well done, good and faithful servant; you were faithful over a few things, I will make you ruler over many things.'"

Matthew 25:21 (NKJV)

In the Parable of the Talents, Jesus emphasized faithful stewardship rather than the amount entrusted to each servant. The issue was not how much they received. The issue was how faithfully they managed it. God continues to honor faithful stewardship today.

🔑 Key Takeaways

- Investing is an act of faithful stewardship, not speculation.
- Wise investing reflects long-term thinking and prepares for future opportunities.
- Successful investing is built on time, consistency, discipline, patience, and vision.
- Emotional decisions often undermine financial growth.
- God honors faithful stewardship that seeks multiplication through wisdom rather than shortcuts.

Lesson 6
Protecting the Seed and Building Space for Increase

Lesson Objectives

By the end of this lesson, you will understand why protecting your financial habits is just as important as establishing them. You'll learn how common financial "thorns" can hinder growth and how consistent stewardship creates the space needed for peace, stability, generosity, and lasting increase.

📐 Builder's Blueprint

Imagine a newly framed house. The walls have been raised. The structure is sound. Everything is beginning to take shape.

Yet the builder knows the work is not finished.

The framing must now be protected from weather, damage, and neglect until the remaining phases of construction are complete. Without protection, even a well-built structure can suffer unnecessary setbacks.

Our financial lives follow the same pattern. Over the past several lessons, you've learned how to honor God through giving, build financial margin through saving, and prepare for future growth through investing.

Those habits form the framework of a healthy financial house. Now comes another important responsibility:

© 2026 eLearn Life Skills, L.L.C. All Rights Reserved.

Protect what you've built. Healthy financial systems can be weakened by unhealthy habits if we fail to guard them with wisdom and discipline. Just as builders carefully protect a home's framing, faithful stewards protect the financial seeds God has entrusted to them.

📖 Scripture Foundation

"But the ones that fell among thorns are those who, when they have heard, go out and are choked with cares, riches, and pleasures of life, and bring no fruit to maturity."

Luke 8:14 (NKJV)

Jesus taught that not every seed reaches maturity. Some seeds are crowded by competing influences.

Likewise, our financial growth can be hindered when unhealthy habits compete against faithful stewardship.

🔑 Key Takeaways

- Healthy financial habits must be protected as carefully as they are established.
- Common financial "thorns" include impulse spending, emotional purchases, impatience, comparison, and fear-based decisions.
- Lasting growth comes through consistent stewardship rather than quick results.
- Wise stewardship creates space for peace, stability, opportunity, generosity, and long-term growth.
- The ultimate goal is not merely earning more money but building a financial house that faithfully stands for generations.

Module 6 Reflection

Congratulations!

You have completed Module 6 – Framing. Throughout this module, you've moved beyond simply building financial discipline to constructing the framework that supports lifelong stewardship. A house without framing cannot support a roof. Likewise, a financial life without biblical structure cannot sustain lasting increase.

This module introduced one of God's most consistent spiritual principles:

- Seedtime and Harvest.

You discovered that God designed His Kingdom around faithful planting, patient growth, and multiplication over time. Rather than pursuing quick results, you've learned to trust God's process by consistently planting the right financial seeds. Most importantly, you've discovered that biblical stewardship extends far beyond managing money. It reflects God's heart. It shapes our character. It prepares us to faithfully manage every resource He entrusts to us.

Framing Milestone

Framing (Seedtime & Harvest) Milestone

Today you've completed another major milestone in building a financial house that stands.

A framed house is no longer just a foundation. Its structure has become visible. The rooms are taking shape.

Its future can now be imagined. The same is true of your financial life. Through this module you've learned that lasting increase is never accidental. It grows from faithfully planting the right seeds and patiently trusting God's process.

You now understand that biblical stewardship rests upon three enduring expressions of faithfulness:

- The Tithe reminds you that God is your Source.
- The Offering reminds you that you are a partner in God's Kingdom.
- The Alms remind you that you are called to reflect God's compassion.

As these three financial seeds become part of your daily life, your finances begin reflecting the heart of the Master Builder. You've also developed practical systems that strengthen your financial framework:

- A Giving Plan
- A Savings Strategy
- A Long-Term Investment Mindset
- Habits that protect your financial harvest

These are more than financial practices. They are spiritual disciplines that prepare you to faithfully manage greater opportunities in the future.

Remember:

God determines the harvest.

Your responsibility is to faithfully plant.

Keep planting. Keep trusting. Keep building.

One day you'll look back and discover that what seemed like small, faithful acts of stewardship became the framework for a life marked by peace, generosity, and lasting impact.

Congratulations, Builder.

The framing of your financial house is now complete.

🔨 Builder's Achievement

"Every faithful seed planted today strengthens the framework for tomorrow's harvest."

Looking Ahead...

With the framing complete, your financial house now has a strong internal structure.

In Module 7 – Roofing, you'll discover how to protect everything you've built. You'll learn how spiritual warfare, discernment, and God's protection shield your financial house from the storms of life, ensuring that the structure you've carefully built remains strong through every season.
